WINTER TOUR - January 28, 2017 Boyertown Museum of Historical Vehicles

The South Jersey Region's Winter Tour to the Boyertown Museum of Historic Vehicles was attended by 30 members and friends. Most of us met at the Pennsville Burger King early Saturday morning, while a few others met the group at the Wawa off Route 202 in West Chester. Several other met us at the museum.

We made excellent time and arrived at the museum approximately 9:40 am. The museum opened at 10 am but they were ready for us and once we paid our admission fee we were greeted by the staff members and docents who split our group so we would all have personal attention to all the displays.

The museum once housed the former home of the Boyertown Auto Body Works, which had continuous operations on the site from 1872-1990 and retains the factory setting making it a unique and interesting setting for the vehicles. The museum houses a wide variety of vehicles including one of the largest Duryea collections we have ever seen, along with all types of gasoline, electric vehicles as well as horse-drawn carriages, wagons, and sleighs. As you can see from the photographs, there was something for everyone, from a Mister Softee truck to beautiful antique automobiles and motorcycles and bicycles.

The museum also has its own blacksmith shop on an upper level and the black smith was working this day. This upper level housed many vintage carriages and coaches from the local area.

In the main museum was the fully restored 1938 Fegely's Reading Diner. Our member Bill Hallman remembers eating there many times when it was in its original location. There was also a 1921 Sunoco gas station.

Museum Docents giving us the history.

Chuck & Joyce Gibson with their 1942 Chevy Blackout car that belonged to Chuck's father. It is all original.

The car will be on display at the museum for a few months

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Ray McFarland

We had a great tour to the Boyertown Auto Museum with 30 members and friends. I was surprised to see 5 Duryea automobiles and inspect each one very closely. Each car used a tiller for steering and engine speed was controlled with the twist of the tiller. The cars had 2 forward speeds that was mounted on the rear wheel which moved from a large ring (low speed) to a smaller ring (high speed). Friction is the driving force to the ring for transmission of power. No gears. The docents giving the guided tour were very knowledgeable and able to answer our questions. Having an automobile over 100 years old, my interest in old automobile engineering is very high.

On February 1st Ed Counsellor and I placed the SJRAACA Swap Meet sign at the Salem County Fairgrounds. Please come out to help your club make the 2017 Swap Meet the best ever.

We are planning to make 2017 an "Old Car" driving year. We are looking forward to planning more 1 and 2 day tours to enjoy our automobiles and stimulate more interest in antique automobiles throughout the tri-state area. I have found that the enjoyable part of having an antique auto is meeting and educating young folks who show an interest in our automobiles when we travel. Please note, most young people have no idea what it is to travel without all the many modern conveniences, i.e. g.p.s., phones, or radio.

Planning to attend the AACA National Meeting in Philadelphia? There are always many informative seminars you can attend. It's never too late to consider attending. Check out the seminars at aaca.org

Hope to see you down the road.

FROM YOUR EDITOR

As I prepare this month's newsletter I am thankful that our weather has been very kind to us. We enjoyed a great day on our Winter Tour to the Boyertown Museum for Historical Vehicles. I hope you enjoy the article and photos. Please note that you can always see more photos on our website www.sjraaca.com.

We are looking forward to this month and the AACA National Meeting. Once again we are receiving the Master Website Award for our beautiful website. Thanks to Green Technology who keep our website looking great. Of course I keep them busy adding content for the website.

I am always looking for new articles for our newsletter so if you have a good story for us, please send it to me.

Meeting Highlights of the South Jersey Region Monday, February 6, 2016

The meeting was called to order by President Ray McFarland. All stood for the Flag salute.

Visitors, Bob Thomson and Chris Hoffner were visiting and will possibly be new members. Both introduced themselves and told what cars they owned.

Ray & Judy Fischer from Somerset NJ, were officially voted in as new members. They were not present.

Becky Counsellor gave the secretary's report and it was approved as read.

Edna Norris read the treasurer's report. It was also approved as read. Bills to be paid were given and Edna noted that the checking account balance is not sufficient to pay the current bills. A motion was made to pull funds from the tour account to be paid back after the swap meet. Motion was approved.

Sunshine: Bonnie Green is our new Sunshine person with Miriam Willis as backup. Bonnie was not present as her mother just passed away and Miriam reported that a sympathy card was sent to Don & Maria Symonds and a get well card was sent to Miriam for her recent surgery.

Old Business: There was some discussion regarding the $500 that the club will be sending to the AACA Library Endowment Fund. After some discussion a motion was made and approved for the funds to be given.

Chuck Gibson also explained our club budget with regard to the profits from the Swap Meet. Chuck recommended we go to a fiscal year for the budget May to April so we can have a better idea of our funds after the Swap Meet profits. A motion was made to table the budget until after the Swap Meet.

There was also discussion regarding raising the cost of swap meet spaces by $5 next year as they haven't been raised for many years. The State Police has been contacted for their services for the Swap Meet.

Chuck also noted that our AACA insurance only covers members and not other volunteers.

Book Audit—Marven Chin and Ron & Doretta Scott will be auditing our club books and they now have them.

Ray reported that the Winter Tour to Boyertown museum was a great success. 30 members and friends attended.

Friendship & Food will be Thursday, February 16th at 6:30 pm at Carollo's Family Restaurant in Franklinville, NJ.

Ray noted that we are looking into having more one and two day tours this year. Linda noted that she is looking into an overnight tour to St. Michaels Maryland. We are also planning a tour to the AACA Museum and possibly to North Jersey Space Farms Museum.

Harry Burton also mentioned that we should go back to the "American Treasure Tour" in Oaks PA.

Russ Shipman noted that Saturday April 29th is the Salem County Vo-Tech Car Show.

Chuck Gibson noted that Saturday, May 13th is the Cardinal Village Car Show.

Paul Kinsey also wanted us to know that on Saturday, June 3rd the Southampton Estates Retirement Community, Southampton PA, will be having a Family Day from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. There will be a moon bounce, bingo, basket raffle, free hot dogs, soda, pretzels, cookies. Petting zoo, pony rides, band and much more. They would love to have some antique cars for this day.

Jim Vertolli also noted that Memorial Day weekend will be Wheels & Wings at the Millville Airport.

We will have more information next month on all the above.

A motion to adjourn was made at 8:05 pm.

Attending the tour was the following: Don & Maria Symonds, Bill & Valerie Wynne, Russ & Maryjane Shipman with their friends Neil & Nancy Nelson, Rich & Elaine Faunce, John & Fran Shore, Chuck & Joyce Gibson, Gary Green and grandson Colin, Paul Kinsey, Phil & Angie Kinsey, Ray & Linda McFarland, Martin & Janet Erdner, Harry & Dot Burton, Terry Shelton, Bill Hallman & Dini Vigliano, Judy Fischer & Brenda Zimmerman from New Jersey Region.

After our tour of the museum, John McCarthy, Boyertown Museum Treasurer and current AACA Board Member, took the time to explain to the group (in a separate room) the problems between AACA National and the AACA Museum. He was very thorough and unbiased in his explanation and helped many of us with our questions regarding the situation.

We then traveled about 2 miles north on Route 100 to the Americana Diner where we all had a nice lunch. We all traveled home separately. We couldn't have asked for a nicer day.

Elaine Faunce remembers riding this Fairmount Park Trolley.

Ray McFarland & Harry Burton with the 1913 Curtis Publishing Electric 4 wheel drive truck they remember seeing growing up in Philadelphia.

On the right is a 1924 Walker electric truck used for pulling railroad cars.

This Week in Motorhead History: The Death of Ernie Kovacs

by Bob Marlow | Jan 8, 2017

www.carshowsafari.com

55 years ago, in the early morning hours of January 13, 1962, pioneering television comedian Ernie Kovacs crashed his car on rain-slick roads at the corner of Beverly Glen and Santa Monica Boulevards in Los Angeles. Driving alone, the 42-year-old Kovacs was killed as his car spun into a telephone pole.

Kovacs' death is significant on two levels. First, his innovative television work remains relevant today, recognized for its inventiveness and for its influence on so much that has followed, from Laugh-In to Saturday Night Live, and it is credited with inspiring performers such as Chevy Chase and David Letterman. Second, Kovacs' crash was the highest-profile accident involving a Chevrolet Corvair, a car that would soon become labeled as "Unsafe at Any Speed" in Ralph Nader's book of that title.

In his hometown of Trenton, New Jersey, Kovacs began on radio before moving to television in Philadelphia. His Philadelphia broadcasting stint included multiple shows, one of which was a cooking program called Deadline for Dinner. Kovacs quickly nicknamed it Dead Lion for Dinner. His Philadelphia morning show, Three to Get Ready (on channel 3), launched in 1950, and is given credit for inventing morning television, inspiring NBC to launch the Today Show just over a year later. Early on, Kovacs began experimenting with visual effects such as superimpositions and trick camera shots, the most famous of which may be the "tilted room" silent sketch with one of his on-air personas, Eugene. Kovacs improvised such things as kaleidoscopic effects, underwater cigar smoke, and gags combining visuals and music.

Spontaneity was one of Kovacs' stock-in-trade, once being quoted as saying "Every idea I ever had is based on the fact that it is 2:30 and there is a production meeting at 3:00."

By the late 1950s Kovacs was a star of television and movies, although not necessarily among the most popular because his undisciplined humor often led to uneven shows. But he was highly respected in the show-biz community, which brings us to that fateful night in 1962. Kovacs was attending a party given by film producer and director Billy Wilder for television comedian Milton Berle and his wife, who had recently adopted a newborn baby boy. Among the attendees were Dean Martin and his wife, Yves Montand, Lucille Ball and Gary Morton, Jack Lemmon and many more.

Kovacs drove to the party in his white Rolls Royce, and his wife, singer and actress Edie Adams, had driven there in the couple's white Corvair station wagon. Around 1:00 AM, Ernie decided to leave the party and drive to PJ's, a joint in Hollywood, to meet a friend for a nightcap. It was raining and so he chose to take the Corvair, telling Edie to drive "the other heap" home. On his way out he offered a ride to Montand, who declined. Kovacs's motto was "Nothing in Moderation." He had been working long hours. He was in the midst of a battle with the IRS over unpaid taxes. He had spent the past several days shooting a television pilot for Screen Gems while simultaneously working on his seventh television special for Dutch Masters cigars, which he was writing, directing, starring, and editing. He'd been drinking and partying. It was raining, and he was driving too fast.

At the corner of Beverly Glen and Santa Monica Boulevards, while trying to light another of his seemingly-endless supply of cigars, Kovacs lost control of the car, which spun off the road and struck a power pole broadside, drivers' door first. It was a massive impact, and Kovacs was dead before help arrived.

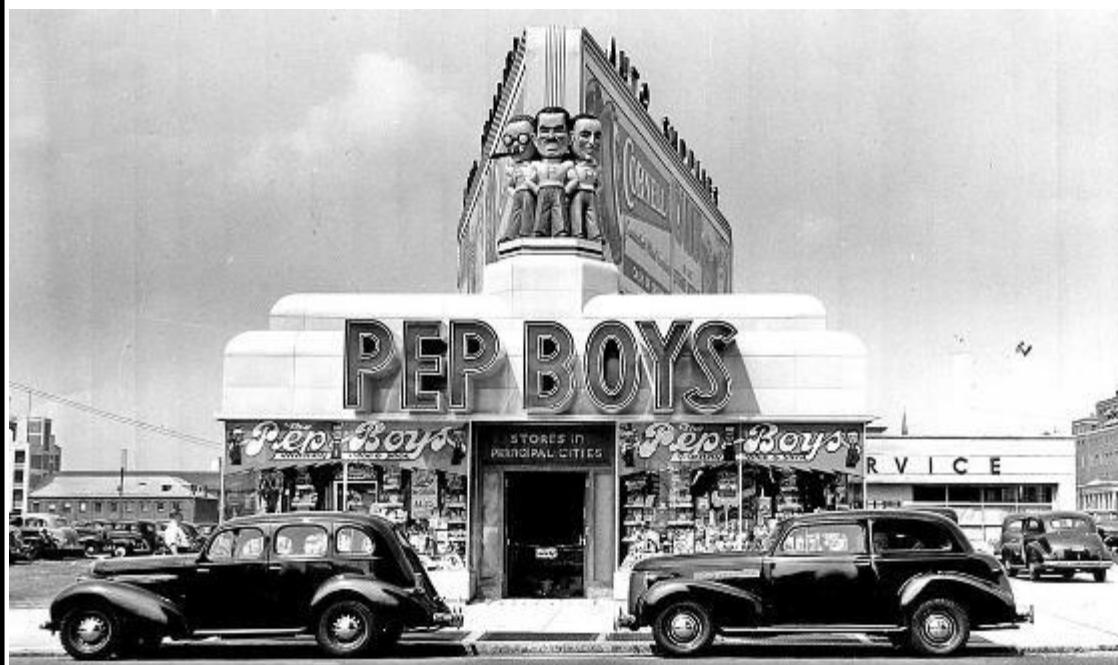

Years later, an interviewer tried to goad Edie Adams into blaming Kovacs' death on the design of the Corvair, but she was having none of it. She blamed instead his fatigue, his alcohol consumption, his speeding, and road conditions. Edie Adams never stopped loving Ernie, and she worked tirelessly and ultimately successfully to pay off his estate's substantial debts. 🍷

MANNY, MOE & JACK Hit a Homerun Selling Auto Parts

Www.theoldmotor.com

Many of you learned about the history of Pep Boys during the recent buy-out offer from the Bridgestone Tire Company last year, followed by a winning bid and purchase of the stores by investor Carl Icahn this past February. For those of you, that missed learning about the chain, the first Pep Auto Supplies store was opened in Philadelphia by four friends in 1921. Meeting with success, that store eventually became a part of forty other stores in the Philly area. In 1923 the name was changed to "The Pep Boys – Manny, Moe, and Jack."

In the thirties, the first store on the West Coast was opened in California, which led to further expansion in the State and today's lead image taken on August 19, 1940, of a new store just before it was opened there.

Never having shopped at a Pep Boys store, it appeared to me to be a good time to open up this post to readers that have, and ask them to tell us about their experiences buying auto parts and supplies or having a car serviced by the chain in the period leading up to the mid-sixties. If you have, please leave a comment about your experiences back-in-time.

The photos are courtesy of Pep Boys and were taken by photographer Jacob Stillman.
