2023 AACA Founders Tour – London, Ontario

By Maria Symonds

It has been years since we were in Canada. As soon as we saw the 2023 schedule with the Founders Tour in Canada, we knew we were going to make that trip. We took our time heading north, splitting the trip over two days. We arrived in London Ontario on Saturday, the day before the official start of the tour. We got our first taste of how much gas costs (over $6.00! a gallon) and had some fun figuring out liters to gallons and kilometers to miles.

On Sunday we spent the morning cleaning the car and seeing all the arrivals. (The other) Ron and Annette Scott and Gary and Bonnie Green arrived, fresh from their convention in Syracuse. We had a good buffet dinner with some of the best corn on the cob, for real!

Day 1 – Monday. We were split into three groups with staggered departures. There were between 60 and 70 cars total, so this was probably a good decision. We took back roads through the area and ended up Oil Springs to visit the Oil Museum of Canada. Did you know the Canadians were the first to “discover” black gold in North America? And they won’t let you forget it! From the museum we headed to a picnic lunch in Victoria Park which included a stop at Old Autos Publications, known as “Canada’s Number 1 Newspaper for the Old Car Enthusiast”. We then got a behind the scenes look at RM Classic Cars, where they have a world class restoration facility and some gorgeous cars on display. We were not allowed to photograph any vehicles in the shop where they were working on several cars destined for the Pebble Beach Concours D’Elegance. We will just have to wait to see them! We took the long way back to the hotel, checking out the “Barn Quilts” and some ice cream. We ended up on a rescue mission (someone out of gas) and had a late dinner.

Day 2 – Tuesday. We again had staggered departures and ended up driving solo for a bit on our way to Stratford. We did catch up with some others and somehow found our way to the parking lot where we got on a shuttle bus destined for the Stratford Festival Props and Costume Warehouse. What a wonderful place, stuffed with over 50,000 costumes, countless props and set pieces. It is said to be one of the largest collections in the world. We saw just a fraction of the collection. You could spend days there. Back on the shuttle bus to lunch at the Revival House. A lovely church turned into a restaurant. From there we had a free afternoon. Don and I chose to take in a show. We saw a production of “Spamalot” which all Monty Python fans will have heard of. It was very naughty and very funny. We had to find our way back to the parking lot (that was our adventure) and we were ALMOST the last car to leave Stratford.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Ron W. Scott

Greetings from the oval office!

Our next meeting will be September 11 due to Labor Day weekend. Hopefully we will have a great turn out as usual.

The first lady and I finally recovered from our second bout with Covid. Even though we caught it somehow from the Alaska cruise, it was worth it! Lol!

I was told the club picnic went extremely well, and the weather cooperated for a beautiful event. We really missed being with everyone.

By the time you read this, the Gateway Classic Cruise will be history and hopefully the club has earned another $200 for the treasury.

At our meeting, we will be discussing positions that will be open for election for the coming year. Anyone who has been a member for at least two years are eligible to run for an office.

Hope to see all of you at our September 11 meeting and wishing you a great Labor Day holiday weekend!

Till next time, happy trails!

Ron

Day 3 – Wednesday. Our destination this morning was the Elgin County Railway Museum with a stop at “Picards Peanuts” (yum) and the Jumbo Memorial (sad). “The King of Elephants” was killed when he was struck by a train in St. Thomas Ontario, on September 15th, 1885. The Railway Museum had a lot of locomotives (surprise!) and a very nice miniature display. Next stop was the Dowler-Karn Museum, a family collection of petroliana and other goodies. We chose to stop briefly at the Clovermead Adventure Farm which was packed with families, so we moved on after a brief stop in the shop for some honey products. Our next stop was the Gay Lea Dairy Museum which had a very nice Divco milk truck along with oodles of other dairy gear. Next stop was Port Bruce on Lake Erie. This is certainly a resort town and there are lots of restaurants and a very nice beach area. Dinner was held in the St. Thomas CASO Station. The building is a restored historic railway station in the middle of town. There was some construction that made getting there a challenge. It was “I can SEE it but I can’t GET there!”. Eventually we got there for our fish fry dinner.

(2023 Founders Tour Continued)

Day 4 – Thursday. A free morning! We got gas and a car wash. After lunch everyone headed out to the Plunkett Estate. Steve Plunkett, a well-known area gazillionaire and philanthropist, has a large estate which is used for all kinds of events. He has one of the largest Cadillac collections in North America. They are displayed in a building with a Victorian theme. We had been invited to a Cruise-In at the estate, but the weather had other ideas and the show was cancelled. We witnessed a terrible storm complete with thunder, lightning, hail and a tornado warning! Yikes.

The view from the mezzanine – Plunkett Estate

Day 5 – Friday. Off early to the lovely town of St. Marys for a stop at the Canadian Baseball Hall of Fame. The HOF is compact and full of all kinds of baseball history. And there are several fields all ready to play ball. The town of St. Marys is full of gracious old homes built from the proceeds of the limestone quarry business. We took our time heading back to the hotel with a stop at Stonetown Artisan Cheese where they make all their own cheese and they let you taste ALL OF IT. We ended the day with a closing banquet and awards.

Annual Club Picnic August 13, 2023

It was a beautiful day for a picnic. The weather was warm but there was a beautiful breeze at the Paulsboro Sportsmen's Club. Many sat outside enjoying the sights and the lovely breeze.

The Italian Kitchen of Pennsville did not disappoint. The food was delicious.

We had 45 members attend the Club Picnic. The beautiful Paulsboro Sportsmen's Club provided a lovely air-conditioned dining room with a beautiful view of the river.

Most everyone went outside after eating to enjoy the lovely breeze and watch the boats on the river. Many even counted the many planes landing and departing from the Philadelphia Airport just across the river from the Club.

Thank you to everyone who came early and helped out with set up and clean up.

Thank you also to Larry Irwin and Maria Symonds for taking the photos.

The "Other" Ron Scott's Adventures

AACA 66th London, Ontario Founders Tour

July 2023

By Ron L. Scott

We arrived at our hotel on Sunday afternoon (day before tour started), parked our truck and trailer and unloaded our antique car. At 1:30 am there was pounding on our door from the local police. They came to advise us that our truck and trailer had been stolen.

They recovered the trailer out on the road and had it towed to an impound lot, but the truck was gone! They gave us a Case # and information we needed to check with them.

Next day (Monday) we proceeded with the group on our tour. (There was nothing we could do about the truck until we heard from the police). Late that night we received a call from the police advising that our truck had been recovered from a nearby reservation. They also gave us information as to where it was!!

Next day (Tuesday), accompanied by the Greens (McGyver, a God send), we went to see our truck. They had broken into it by breaking the door lock and the ignition, using a screw driver to start it.

Didn't look like it did when we parked it!! They'd been baha-ing in it with the windows down. It was covered in mud inside and out. They removed our wheels and tires and replaced them with JUNK barely good enough to drive on, emptied the gas tank and took our license plates. Luckily they forgot the insurance and registration cards (we found them under the seat).

We stopped for gas and then proceeded to the impound lot to retrieve our trailer. Called to have new tires put on the truck and then, on to a car wash to remove as much mud as possible. Back at the hotel we cleaned the inside good enough to be able to drive it home.

They also removed the following from the truck: trailer hitch, radio, cameras, tool box and tools, gas cans full of gas (in case someone ran out of gas on the tour) step stool and our license plates!

After 2 days trying to find the right new hitch, a gentleman on the tour came to us and asked what we were looking for. Lo and behold (another God send) he had an extra hitch that we needed in his trailer!!

McGyver (Gary Green) and I installed the hitch and then replaced the emergency brake release. Even though they started the truck with a screwdriver, we couldn't, so McGyver took it apart and got it to work. Voila!!

After all that, we were able to hook the trailer up to the truck and drive it home safely. Phew!! Thank you Lord and McGyver!!!! It's in the insurance company hands right now. Just waiting for next steps.

Welcome Class of 1998*By Steve Rossi VP - Public Relations & Event Planning

AACA...America's Premier Resource for the Collectible Vehicle Community...defines an "antique" as any 25-year-old-or-older self-propelled vehicle that is intended for passenger use. The organization is dedicated to the history, maintenance, restoration, judging and enjoyment of any and all such automobiles in the inclusive spirit of sportsmanship and good fellowship.

AACA therefore recognizes the Class of 1998 that's crossed the 25-year-old threshold. Here a sampling of some recognized examples that now enjoy antique automobile status and are welcome on AACA Show Fields across America and around the world:

1998 New Volkswagen Beetle In a nod to its iconic heritage, Volkswagen rolled back the clock and treated automotive enthusiasts to a reimagined 1998 VW Bug in anticipation of the soon to arrive new millennium. The company said that, "A car like this only comes around twice in a lifetime." But they weren't thinking small...this time...with this all-new edition. Built off the Golf, the last one would leave the line in 2019.

1998 Mercedes-Benz ML 320 Remembered as the first modern luxury sport utility vehicle, the Mercedes M-Class pioneered the idea of combining off-road prowess with utmost creature comfort, along with refined performance, on-road handling precision and steadfast safety sentiment. It was assembled in a purposebuilt plant in Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

1998 Ford Crown Victoria In 1998, Ford took the opportunity to redesign its mainstream, full-sized four-door sedan for the masses with a more elegant and formal execution. Versions specified for law enforcement were now designated Police Interceptors. Over what would become a fourteen-year lifespan, just under 1 million were manufactured.

1998 Toyota Sienna The then-ever popular minivan segment enjoyed the arrival of a new entry from Toyota. Replacing the rear-wheel drive Previa, the front-drive "Camry of minivans" was designed specifically for the North American market. Now in its fourth generation, the award-winning Toyota Sienna remains with us to this day.

1998 Chevrolet Camaro/Pontiac Firebird LS 1 The bowtie brand took its new-for-1997 LS (Luxury Sport) 1 Corvette engine and dropped it into the Camaro for 1998. It was considered "balanced and brutally fast" with a 0-60 mph elapsed time of 5.2 seconds. A sister Pontiac Firebird F-body was also offered.

1998 BMW Z3 M Likewise in the performance domain, BMW breathed on its Z3 sports car with factory "M" treatment. Engine and chassis upgrades were calibrated specifically for enthusiasts, and the Z3 M is now considered BMW's last analog sports car.

1998 Mercedes-Benz SLK In 1998, the Stuttgart automaker may have been busy with the groundbreaking ML sport utility, but that didn't stop it from also introducing the SLK sports car. A bit tamer than the BMW Z3 M, it instead distinguished itself by taking a page out of automotive history and reintroducing the retractable hardtop.

1998 Mercedes-Benz CLK If that weren't enough, Mercedes also launched the CLK sport coupe in 1998 in the U.S. As a company that previously produced primarily four-door sedans, it was intended to be a new expression of rolling sculpture. And succeeded.

1998 Lincoln Navigator Lincoln entered the full-size, luxury SUV fray with the Navigator, which was built off the Ford Expedition. It was advertised under the headline..."Damn the tuxedos, full speed ahead." Over-the-road serenity has since been its objective.

1998 Dodge Ram Quad Cab Dodge joined the door wars with the lure of more... actually, four...in its full-size pickup truck. The Quad Cab was marketed through an ambitious campaign that promoted, "More power. More torque. More towing. More payload. More room."

In conclusion, if you are the proud owner of any of these vehicles or one of the many other "new" antiques, please consider joining one of the best car clubs in the world and start showing off your 1998 treasures. Visit AACA.org for more information.
